Care Patrol

We only recommend the safest options.

You can trust CarePatrol because care options in our network go through our rigid screening process, which includes evaluating the care and violation history. This helps us recommend safer care options for your loved one.

You're part of a network of senior care professionals.

Finding care may be your top priority, but our advisors can also refer your family to a wide range of senior care professionals including:

- Elder law attorneys
- Financial planners
- House call physicians
- Much more

We're with you every step of the way.

Assisted or independent community? Residential care home? In-home care? Memory care?

Our certified senior advisors first evaluate your loved one's individual care needs, personal and location preferences, and what is comfortable for you financially before recommending care options that meet or exceed your expectations.

Next, we'll accompany you on a tour of each one, so you can find the safest choice for your loved one.

After your loved one transitions into their new home, we follow up with you and your loved one to make certain everything is going well. In addition, you can always depend on us if your loved one's care needs change in the future.
